

IRUBIS Successfully Completes Crowdfunding Campaign on Companisto to Fuel USA Expansion

Munich, Germany – (September 24, 2026) – IRUBIS GmbH, a life science tools startup pioneering innovation in real-time bioprocess analytics, today announced the successful completion of its equity crowdfunding campaign on Companisto, one of Europe's leading investment platforms for startups and growth companies. The campaign closed successfully, with 383 investors backing the round.

The campaign, which ran from May to September 2026, gave private investors the opportunity to participate in IRUBIS' growth story. The strong response reflects growing recognition of Process Analytical Technology (PAT) as a key enabler of smarter, more efficient biopharmaceutical manufacturing – and confidence in IRUBIS' flagship product, Monipa, which delivers inline, real-time concentration data for proteins, excipients, and nucleic acids.

The new capital will be used to accelerate IRUBIS' commercial expansion into the USA, scale up production, and further develop the Monipa platform.

“With this funding, we can accelerate our expansion into the USA and bring Monipa to even more partners worldwide, helping biomanufacturers make faster decisions, reduce batch loss, and simplify scale-up.” said Matthias Eggers, CEO of IRUBIS.

With the campaign completed, IRUBIS enters its next phase focused on commercial expansion, international growth, and market leadership in Process Analytical Technology for bioprocessing. The company thanks all investors for their support and looks forward to sharing regular updates on its journey.

About IRUBIS

IRUBIS was founded in September 2017 by Lorenz Sykora-Mirle, Alexander Geißler, and Anja Müller with the goal of bringing life-saving biopharmaceutical drugs to patients faster. The company develops advanced PAT tool based on mid-infrared spectroscopy to bring intelligence to biopharmaceutical manufacturing. Its flagship product, Monipa, with single-use capabilities delivers inline, real-time concentration data for proteins, excipients, and nucleic acids—empowering faster decision-making, reducing batch loss, and simplifying bioprocess development and scale-up.

About Companisto

Companisto is one of Europe's leading investment platforms for startups and growth companies. Business angels and private investors jointly participate in innovative ventures with investments starting from €250.

For media inquiries or interview requests:

press@irubis.com

www.irubis.com